DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claim 28 is dependent on non-elected claim 12. Therefore, claim 28 is additionally withdrawn from consideration.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 4, 5, 18-20, 24-26, 29 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 5,818,697 (hereafter Armezzani) in view of US 5,408,052 (hereafter Inaba).

Armezzani discloses, referring to figure 3, a flexible PWB comprising a flexible insulating substrate (1) first wiring, second wiring (11), first and second premolded (see col. 5, line 15) protecting films (5, 6), a terminal portion (9), wherein the protecting films are thinner than the substrate (see col. 4, lines 25-35 and col. 5, lines 15-20).

Armezzani does not specifically disclose that the protecting films are attached via an adhesive [claims 4, 18, 19]. However, it would have been obvious, to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time of invention, to attach the protecting films via an adhesive since it is well known in the art to do so, as evidenced by Inaba (see figure 1). The motivation for doing so would have been to enhance the mechanical attachment of the films, increasing the reliability of the device. Moreover, the modified invention of Armezzani discloses that the protecting films have a thickness (2 mils, col. 5, lines 15-20), which is less than half of the thickness of the insulating substrate (10 mils, col. 4, lines 25-30) [claims 5, 20], wherein said terminal portion is provided on said first wiring but not said second wiring [claims 24, 25], wherein said first and second wirings, which are on opposite sides of said flexible insulating substrate, are in electrical communication with each other via a through hole [claims 26, 29, 30].

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 4, 5, 18-20, 24-26, 29 and 30 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Additionally, Applicants' argument that claim 4 is a linking claim to the inventions embodied in claims 7, 12-17 and 28 is rendered moot since claim 4 has been rejected.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6, 21-23, 27, and 31 are allowed.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Claims 6 and 21 state the limitation "wherein an end of the second insulative protecting film closer to the terminal portion is farther away from an end of the insulating substrate where the terminal portion is provided than an end of the first insulative protecting film closer to the terminal portion.". This limitation, in conjunction with the other claimed limitations was neither found to be disclosed in, nor suggested by the prior art. Claims 22 and 23 state the limitation, wherein said first and second wirings, which are on opposite sides of said flexible insulating substrate, are not in electrical communication with one another. This limitation, in conjunction with the other claimed limitations was neither found to be disclosed in, nor suggested by the prior art.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Specifically, the limitation that the polymer be premolded was not present in the claims at the time of the previous rejection. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
